

Rim Job 5.10 - 400 m+

Brandon Pullan and Matt Brooks, August 2009

On the north face of the Rim Wall rises a chimney crack system about 100 m or so right of Candle in the Wind (the obvious arête). Start 15 m to the right in a short corner.

Climb a pitch to a ledge, traverse left into corner. Up the corner, deviating out left in some spots, where the obvious corner peters out climb a steep slab (fixed pin) into the upper awkward chimney to an interesting finish. No bolts.
